FOREWARD

Jesus' parable of the persistent widow is introduced in Luke 18:1 with the words, "And he told them a parable to the effect that they ought always to pray and not lose heart. He said ...". While there are many other passages in scripture where prayer is both instructed and described, this one always stands out to me for its simplicity and tenacity. Christians ought to pray. Christians who pray do not lose heart.

The instruction to pray is a reminder and a joy, not a burden. Prayer recalibrates and reorients our drifting hearts and affections. The tyranny of the urgent readily distracts us from the glorious privilege that is ours in Christ Jesus. Our attention is drawn toward busyness and away from the precious life-giving resource we have been given in prayer. Jesus has reconciled us to God. Now we can pray to God as to a loving Father (Matthew 6:9).

I struggle with sustaining a disciplined pattern of regular prayer. Desperate, sincere, in-the-moment prayer comes easily whenever I hear of or think about someone in need. Yet my heart longs for more. My soul is hungry and thirsty for daily nourishment found only in setting aside regular, intentional time with my Father. I suppose this is something every Christian feels, at least to some extent.

Throughout the centuries, Christians have prayed at assigned hours, particularly in the morning and evening. Our rich Anglican heritage has given us the Daily Offices of Morning Prayer and Evening Prayer. We have adapted these traditional Daily Offices into the booklet you are now holding in your hand. These booklets will be produced and distributed to our church family quarterly. Would you commit to join us in praying these daily prayers throughout the coming year?

Let me say a few things about Daily Prayer:

1

First, you will notice that each day includes both prayer and Bible reading. Charles Spurgeon was asked, “What is more important, prayer or bible reading?” He answered, “I ask, ‘What is more important, breathing in or breathing out.’” This is the genius of our Anglican tradition. It builds prayer around scripture reading and bathes scripture reading in prayer. You can expect to spend 15 minutes each morning and evening.

2

Second, some of the liturgical prayers use first person plural pronouns. They say “we” and “us”. While many of us will pray these prayers alone we find strength and encouragement remembering that our church family prays these same prayers with us, in a sense. Think of these daily prayers as corporate prayer done individually.

3

Third, our church family is comprised mostly of new or mature Christians who have come from other Christian denominations. The practice of daily, liturgical prayer may seem odd at best. You may even recoil from the idea out of a concern for repetition. Remember that Jesus did not forbid repetition, per se, but vain or empty repetition (Matthew 6:7). These written prayers will serve a few good purposes in your walk with Jesus. They establish determined times to pray in the morning and evening. Think of it as putting your life on rails by starting and ending the day in God’s word and prayer.

Written prayers also enrich our vocabulary in talking about, thinking about and serving the Lord. This is a sentiment captured in the motto Lex Orandi, Lex Credendi, literally meaning “What is Prayed” is “What is Believed”.

Our team has prepared this resource for you. Bryan, Dan and Brock have poured over Anglican prayer books, developed a lectionary, and beta-tested it. I am eager to grow in the discipline of Daily Prayer, I commit to doing it and commend it to you wholeheartedly.

Romans 12:12 says, “...be constant in prayer.” 1 Thessalonians 5:17 says, “Pray without ceasing ...” Colossians 4:2 says, “Continue steadfastly in prayer ...”

Always pray and do not lose heart.

CONFESSION

Take a moment to search your heart and let the Holy Spirit shed light on areas of this day where you have failed to trust in Jesus.

Almighty and most merciful Father, we have erred and strayed from your ways like lost sheep. We have followed too much the devices and desires of our own hearts. We have offended against your holy laws. We have left undone those things which we ought to have done, and we have done those things which we ought not to have done; and apart from your grace, there is no health in us. O Lord, have mercy upon us. Spare all those who confess their faults. Restore all those who are penitent, according to your promises declared to all people in Christ Jesus our Lord. And grant, O most merciful Father, for his sake, that we may now live a godly, righteous, and sober life, to the glory of your holy name. Amen.

BOOK OF COMMON PRAYER

SILENT OR OUT LOUD?

If you are praying on your own, you may be wondering whether to be praying these prayers silently or out loud. We would suggest you mix it up and find what is most devotional for you. There is something powerful about declaring your prayers in an audible way, but we also know that God can hear our innermost thoughts (Psa 139:2).

You will notice that the majority of the prayers in this booklet are written using plural pronouns (we, us, etc.). Following the reflection:

Heavenly Father, you made us for yourself, and our hearts are restless until they rest in you: Direct our heartfelt desires and defend us against our Enemy, that we may pray according to your will; through Jesus Christ our Lord; who lives and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit, world without end. Amen.

Heavenly Father, in you we live and move and have our being; We humbly pray you so to guide and govern us by your Holy Spirit, that in all the cares and occupations of our life we may not forget you, but may remember that we are ever walking in your sight; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

BOOK OF COMMON PRAYER

THE LORD'S PRAYER

As our Saviour taught us, so we pray:

Our Father in heaven, hallowed be your name. Your kingdom come, your will be done, on earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread, and forgive us our debts, as we also have forgiven our debtors. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil.

MATTHEW 6:9-13

BENEDICTION

Neither death nor life, nor angels nor rulers, nor things present nor things to come, nor powers, nor height nor depth, nor anything else in all creation, will be able to separate us from the love of God in Christ Jesus our Lord. Amen.

FRIDAY

EVENING

This evening, rest in this truth from scripture:

“I am sure of this, that he who began a good work in you will bring it to completion at the day of Jesus Christ.”

PHILIPPIANS 1:6

CONFESSION

Take a moment to let the Holy Spirit convict you of this day's sins. Don't hide or minimize your failures, instead, feel their weight and set them at the foot of the cross.

Almighty and most merciful Father, we have erred and strayed from your ways like lost sheep. We have followed too much the devices and desires of our own hearts. We have offended against your holy laws. We have left undone those things which we ought to have done, and we have done those things which we ought not to have done; and apart from your grace, there is no health in us. O Lord, have mercy upon us. Spare all those who confess their faults. Restore all those who are penitent, according to your promises declared to all people in Christ Jesus our Lord. And grant, O most merciful Father, for his sake, that we may now live a godly, righteous, and sober life, to the glory of your holy name. Amen.

ASSURANCE

God does not deal with us according to our sins, nor repay us according to our iniquities. He did not send his Son into the world to condemn the world, but in order that the world might be saved through him. In Christ, we have redemption, the forgiveness of sins. Amen.

PSALM 103:10, JOHN 3:17, EPH 1:7

PREPARE YOUR HEART

As the busyness of this day fades to evening, slow your heart, quiet your mind and be still before the Lord.

O God, make speed to save us.
O Lord, make haste to help us.

Abide with us, Lord, for it is evening,
 and day is drawing to a close,
 let us pray with one heart and mind:

As our evening prayer rises before you, O God, so may your mercy come down upon us to cleanse our hearts and set us free to sing your praise now and for ever. Amen.
